

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A transparent network processor receives a URL request from a client computer and determines a cache in a cache array that stores a URL corresponding to the URL request. The network processor then redirects the URL request to the determined cache.

381259_1.DOC